HONGKONG, AUGUST 25TH, 1869.

It is to be hoped that the Fire Brigade Department will deem the suggestion thrown out recently in these columns of the desirability of adding a Hook and Ladder Company to the Force, worth taking into consideration. This method of stopping the progress of a fire is especially suited to the requirements of a place like Hongkong, where the chief danger to be contended against in the rapid spread of the flames over the lightly built houses inhabited by the Chinese portion of the community. An efficient Hook and Ladder Company would easily reduce this danger to a minimum, by pulling down the houses contiguous to the fire in the direction in which it was likely to spread; while in suppressing the fire itself, much good can be done by the hooks and ladders throwing the incombustible portion of the debris, such as brick walls and tiles, on the part where the fire is raging.

The simplicity of this appliance, and the small cost required to set it going, is a recommendation that is not of small consideration. Very little trouble or expense would attend setting the Hooks and Ladders on foot, and as this is a favourite "arm" among those who join Fire Brigades, it is certain that sufficient volunteers would easily be found, especially among the energetic American residents, who are foremost in all matters connected with volunteer Brigades.

The advantage, already alluded to, of the effect which this mode of extinguishing fires would have on the native mind, is also not to be overlooked. The result of a fire breaking out in one Chinese house, would be so almost certainly the pulling down of one or two houses on either side of it, that the natives would necessarily feel interested in each seeing that his neighbour did not accumulate combustibles, or otherwise run an unsual risk of a fire's breaking out.

The addition of Hooks and Ladders would render the Hongkong Fire Brigade very complete, now that the two new Government Fire Engines have come out, and one of the great dangers of this place would then be reduced to a minimum. Such an occurrence as that which took place about this time last year, would, with such arrangements as these completed, be an impossibility.

The recent perjury case shows that the Chinese have an admirable manner of getting over any little difficulty, which may arise in consequence of their being discovered giving false evidence. They simply cure the matter on the Homœopathic principle. If a direct contradiction has been given to their statements, what more simple than to reiterate and corroborate them? There is no torture in the Supreme Court, and if one of the witnesses is discovered telling a falsehood, he will be only indicted for perjury in his turn, and then another dose on the Homœopathic principle will no doubt cure the second case.

It will probably be recollected that the case under notice arose out of an action brought in the Court of Summary Jurisdiction some few weeks since, in which the prisoner was plaintiff, and a building contractor, named TSENG-A-YIH, was defendant, in which a claim was made to the sum of $225, by the plaintiff, on behalf of the estate of his deceased brother, TSANG-PO, of which he was executor. The plaintiff had taken out letters of administration in the Supreme Court, as executor under his brother's will, and in the affidavit sworn out, and the evidence given by TSANG-A-YIH, it was stated that TSANG-A-PO died on the 23rd of October, 1867, and that at that time he left a book of accounts between himself and the defendant, which showed a balance due from the latter. In the course of the case, however, several witnesses were produced who deposed that they had seen TSANG-PO alive several times after the 23rd October. Upon this, judgment was given for the defendant in the action, and a charge of perjury ordered by the ACTING-JUDGE of the Summary Court, to be made against the plaintiff, who after a preliminary hearing at the Police Court was committed for trial.

In his defence, he declared through his Counsel that the receipt produced by the prosecution was a forgery, and a series of Chinese witnesses were brought forward, who all testified that TSANG-PO died on the 23rd October, the peculiarity of the evidence being that it was what is looked upon as too good evidence; not one of the witnesses having the slightest doubt as to the exact day, and probably being willing to testify to the hour and minute of TSANG-PO's death, if necessary.

The evidence of Mr. SIM was the only testimony that could be relied upon, and it amounted really to very little, merely in fact that at the end of October or beginning of November, the prisoner had obtained leave to go into the country with his brother, who he had said was ill. Of course, it was quite possible his brother might have died long after this time.

As was to be expected, the Jury returned a verdict to the effect that the conflict of evidence was such that they felt called upon to acquit the prisoner; and thus a most glorious complication has arisen; as if the Jury's verdict is correct, the decision in the Summary Court must be incorrect, and it now remains to be seen whether the Defendant in that suit is to be sued for forgery as the plaintiff has been for perjury.

The Home papers by the present mail contain little more concerning the China debate than has been conveyed already by Telegram. Colonel Sykes warmly advocated the claims of the merchants to unrestricted travel and residence, but no other member supported his views. Mr. Wade is to resume his post at Secretary of Legation, and will take charge d'affaires during Sir R. Alcock's absence on leave.

The statement with respect to the shroff of the American gentlemen, who recently went overland from Canton to Shanghai, having represented them as English officials, and so levied money from the mandarins on the way, turns out to be founded in at least sufficient fact to induce the Tsung-li Yamun to take it up, and, according to the N. C. Daily News, to demand the punishment of the two gentlemen, and the condition of the shroff. It is an interesting illustration of the manner in which foreigners are in the hands of their native servants.

The Protestant missionaries at Peking have addressed a remonstrance to Sir Rutherford Alcock, against the views he has lately expressed in regard to missions. They urge that honourable commerce has nothing to fear, but everything to gain from Missionaries, who by their knowledge of the people and language supply the want of information, on the part of merchants, on these subjects, and they also point out as a matter of fact, that the right of residence in the interior has been conceded to Roman Catholic Missionaries, and, therefore, by the favoured nation clause, belongs also to Protestant Missionaries.

The papers to hand from Shanghai announce the loss of the well known Ship Hamilla Mitchell. She ran on to the Lookout Rocks, on the morning of the 11th instant. It appears that the weather was clear at the previous evening, and a course leading to carry her clear of all danger had been laid down. A thick fog came on, but the ship went on confidently before a light breeze till midnight, when land was seen looming close ahead, and she struck almost immediately. She made water so rapidly that the crew were at once ordered into the boats. By the morning, her poop only was visible above water, so the boats started for Shanghai, but were picked up by the Pilot-boat Golden Gate. She carried a large quantity of bullion, besides a valuable general cargo.

Miss Raynor and Mr. Bennee's performance at the Lusitano Theatre was postponed from last night till Friday. There were only about fifteen or twenty people present; and Mr. Bennee came forward, and, after expressing his feeling that it was somewhat hard on those not to have a larger attendance, and stating he would would lose by performing, said the entertainment would be put off till the day above-named, when he hoped he would be more fortunate.

A trial of the New Government fire engines, just arrived by the Neville, took place yesterday at the Naval Yard, H.E. the Governor being present to superintend the operation. The action of the Engines was, upon the whole, satisfactory, but as is usually the case with new machines, they did not work perfectly smoothly at first being used, and there was some time before the strength of the Engines was shown, the policemen in charge of the hose, for a long period presenting that peculiarly undignified appearance which a fireman will present, who solemnly holds up a nozzle, from which only a most mild and diminutive stream proceeds. Ultimately, however, very fair streams were thrown from four jets in each engine, and there seems no doubt of their being thoroughly successful. Mr. May, Superintendent of the Brigade, and other gentlemen interested, were also present.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

BEFORE C. MAY, ESQ.

August 24th.

It appears that three men were brought up to the Central station on the 22nd, charged with creating a disturbance, and that they were admitted to bail. Low-a pow, a shopkeeper, of No. 277, in the Queen's road, becoming the surety for one Lo-sepoy, in the sum of $25, that he should appear on Monday morning at the magistracy.

On the 23rd, as Low-pow did not appear, the magistrate ordered the bail-bond to be estreated, and on the 24th Low-a-kong becoming the bail for Low-pow, his principal would probably cause serious inroads into his feelings of sympathy, if not tend to their total destruction, put in an appearance, bringing the delinquent along with him, whose excitement for absurdity is so refreshing to consider. He was charged with creating a disturbance, and was bailed. My younger brother afterwards told me that my mother was dead. I went to bury my mother, sending my brother to the magistracy to represent me."

The younger brother, it will be observed, being of a quiet and peaceable disposition under no bonds, could sink all his filial in favour of his fraternal sympathies; also, who bore them both being gone, the filial merged smoothly into the uterine, and so, once more, the old woman of China served her son a turn.

The Magistrate being touched with this exhibition of filial and fraternal sympathy, the bailee was suffered to go to at large, and the bailor to walk forth unmulcted.

Thirty-three Chinese, occupants of houses and portions of houses in the city of Victoria, were mulcted in the sum of $2.00 each, for having on the 21st of August, inst., unlawfully made bonfires by burning joss-paper, to the annoyance of the neighbouring Immortals, contrary to the 13th section of the 2nd clause of the Ordinance, in that case made and provided, viz. No. 14 of 1845, which runs thus: "Every person who shall wantonly discharge any fire-arms or throw or discharge any stone or other missile, or make any bonfire, or throw or set fire to any fire-work, to the damage or danger to any person, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding Five Pounds."

Inspector Gray, of West Point, charged one Chee-a-hing, a barber, under the following circumstances. On the evening of the 23rd inst., a constable on duty on the West Praya heard a disturbance in a certain house, upon entering which, and going up-stairs, he found two Chinese quarrelling, whom he took into custody. Upon their coming to the station, one of the two rose, dropped down dead, and he was at once placed in a chair and carried to No. 7 Station. The corpse having been sent to the Government Civil Hospital, the Inspector applied for a warrant, until the verdict of the Jury on the Coroner's Inquest should be returned, which was arranged to be held at half-past four in the afternoon.

INQUEST.

An Inquest was held yesterday afternoon, at the Government Civil Hospital, before Frederick Stewart, Esq., the Coroner, on the body of Wong-a-pow, who dropped down dead as little after eight o'clock on the evening of the 23rd inst., while on his way to No. 7 Station, in charge of an Indian constable, together with another Chinese, for creating a disturbance and fighting in the first floor of a house on the West Praya.

The evidence of the other Chinese, that of a dissolute Chinese Doctor, and also of the Indian constable who took them in charge, having been heard as to the nature and grounds of the quarrel, and the blows given and received, that of Dr. Cochane, the Superintendent of the Government Civil Hospital, followed. His statement, made after having held a careful post mortem examination, was shortly to the effect that Wong-a-pow, who in appearance was an opium smoker, died of disease of the heart, and a verdict was returned of "Died by the visitation of God," there being nothing in the evidence given to lead the jury to believe that the same was due in any way to what transpired in the quarrel.

The dissolute individual, who described himself as a Chinese Doctor, by his own confession a regular opium smoker, was in such a state of collapse after twenty hours of confinement, that it was considered necessary to revitalize him with a little of his favourite drug before anything like a connective story could be elicited from him.

The Jurors, who patiently listened to the usual combination of fact and fiction, of which Chinese evidence is compounded, were Messrs. Norton, A. G. Norris, and F. J. Barrow.

COURT OF SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

BEFORE J. G. WHITE, ESQ.

A. C. SEQUEIRA v. J. L. DE SA.—This was an action to recover 346.00, claimed as the value of services rendered in copying a log book. It appears that the defendant received from a Mr. Tyson, of the U. S. gunboat Tuscallia, a log book to copy, but being unable to do the work himself, he gave it to the plaintiff, with the understanding that he was to receive whatever Mr. Ryan saw fit to "pay for the work." When the work was finished $15.00 was sent by the defendant, who sent the same to the plaintiff, but he refused to receive it, claiming remuneration at the rate of $1.00 per day for forty-six days.

In reply to his Honor, plaintiff said that there were 180 folios copied. He worked from ten in the morning until five in the afternoon, during which time he could copy from three to four folios per day.

His Honour remarked that he thought the charge was entirely too much. He was informed that the usual charge for copying was 10 to 12 cents per folio, and there was nothing to say that he could not copy more than three or four folios per diem. There would be judgment for the plaintiff for $20, and costs.

H. W. HORNBOLE v. C. M. SENNA.—This was an action to recover $16.85 for goods bought and supplied. The defendant, who said he was employed by the Union Dock Company at a salary of $30 per month, acknowledged having received all the goods mentioned in the bill, and admitted the sum of $6.85 is due, but added that the remaining goods for which a charge had been made were sent to him also present by Mr. Pinto, clerk to the plaintiff. In support of this he produced a number of letters that had accompanied the goods when sent. They consisted of Champagne, Porter, &c. Mr. Pinto was also called as a witness, and said that the former statement was quite correct. The goods had been sent by him also present to the defendant, but by some mistake of the compradore's they had been charged to Mr. Senna's account instead of to that of the Hebrew Pinto.

His Honor asked whether the plaintiff was willing to take judgment for $6.85 as to the defendant, and the remaining $10.00 to be charged to Mr. Pinto, his clerk.

Plaintiff replied that he was not. He knew nothing about his clerk in the affair, the goods were charged to the defendant in his books, who acknowledged having received them. The clerk had no authority to make presents, and both Mr. Senna and Mr. Pinto told various stories about this affair.

His Honor remarked that he thought this was a most extraordinary proceeding. He should give judgment for the plaintiff for the amount claimed, and Mr. Senna and Mr. Pinto must settle the somewhat business between themselves.

S. EMAMGODEEN v. J. C. WILLIAMS.—This was an action to recover 290, claimed as brokerage on the rental of a certain house in Aberdeen Street, belonging to the defendant. Plaintiff said he had procured a tenant for the house, at the defendant's solicitation, for which service he had never received any remuneration.

Defendant said that in March last the plaintiff came to him in the street, and wanted to let a stable of him, and afterwards asked if he would let one of his houses in Aberdeen Street. Defendant replied that he would for $100 per month. In April, plaintiff came to him again, and said that a gentleman wished to see him regarding his house in Aberdeen Street. Defendant saw the gentleman, and rented the house for $75 per month to this person. Never had anything whatever to do with the plaintiff beyond this.

Plaintiff said he could bring witnesses to prove what he had said.

His Honor said it was a most extraordinary story so far as the plaintiff was concerned. The idea that he could claim brokerage for merely speaking to a man in the street about his house, when he had never done anything whatever towards renting the premises, was simply absurd. The plaintiff might bring all the colony as witnesses, but it would not convince him that there was the slightest foundation for plaintiff's case. The summons would be dismissed.

Both parties became very much excited at this decision, and his Honor was obliged to order the plaintiff out of court by the bailiff's assistance.

SUPREME COURT.

BEFORE SIR HENRY T. HOLLAND, KNT.

Wednesday, August 25th.

Lee-sing v. Quach-yu-chuen and others.

The following special jury were sworn:—Messrs. Jukes, Geo. F. Heard, Deacon, Menke, Karberg, Heaton, and Ivey.

This was an action brought upon a declaration, in which the plaintiff seeks to recover under a common money count, the sum of $797.4, under the following items of account. Rent for certain premises belonging to the plaintiff, from April 22nd, 1868, to October 16th, 1868, at $70 per month, $420; police and lighting rates, $27.40, and rent from October 17th, 1868, to March 12th, 1869, at $70 per month, $350; and for damages under a count for waste.

According to the plaintiff's case, it appears that in the year 1866, one Chang-ngog-low, a member of the defendant's firm, hired from the plaintiff two buildings, or dwelling houses, known as 118, Old Praya, and 117, Bonham-strand, at a monthly rental of $80 per month. These two dwellings have their back walls facing each other, and on the premises, which are carried on the business of traders in ginsing, made extensive alterations in the buildings, so as to throw them into one, and make them more convenient and suitable for the purposes of their business. On the 22nd of April, 1868, the rent was reduced to $70 per month, but although defendants still continued to occupy the premises, they ceased to pay rent from that time. On the 16th of October, they moved out, but no intimation whatever was given to the plaintiff that they wished to relinquish possession, and it was not until the 12th of March, of the present year, that plaintiff did actually take possession by breaking in the doors, which were found to be locked and secured. One of the terms upon which the premises were rented was, that they should be kept in tenantable repair, and that on their being relinquished by the defendant, they should be put in the same condition as they were found by the defendants, when they originally took possession. The money count accordingly refers to the arrears of rent due, and as to the count for waste the plaintiff alleges that such waste arises from the defendants having pulled down walls, the kitchens, staircases, door and fixtures belonging and affixed to the premises; from having carried away the sand and deposed of them for their own use; from building up the entrances to the premises; by building up walls; opening new doors and windows; erecting new floors, staircases, and partitions and new chimneys in the premises; and that they did not keep them in tenantable repair. Plaintiff further alleges that when the premises were originally occupied, they consisted of two separate houses, so constructed and arranged that the three floors in each could be let singly or together and that by reason of the changes and alterations made by the defendants, by which they have been thrown into one building, they are not so eligible for renting. As they are at present they can only be rented for $45 per month, and the plaintiff accordingly claims further damages, being the difference between this monthly rental and the amount he would have been able to obtain had the houses been restored to their original condition.

In reply to this, defendants allege that they made these alterations with the knowledge and consent of the plaintiff, and they further put in a set off against the rent due, for repairs to the buildings, made necessary by the two typhoons and fire of 1867, and amounting to $878.

The whole case appears to turn upon whether these alterations were done with plaintiff's consent, and whether they have caused the waste and deterioration alleged by the plaintiff.

The plaintiff, a rent collector in his employ, and the manager of the Wo-hang firm, of which plaintiff is a partner, were examined at very great length as to the terms upon which the buildings were rented, and the nature of the alterations made by the defendants. These three witnesses were very clear in stating that one of the terms upon which the premises were rented was, that they were to be handed back in their original condition if called upon to do so. Shortly before five o'clock the jury went to have a view, and the court was adjourned until this morning, at ten o'clock, when the case for the plaintiff will be resumed.

Mr. Pollard, instructed by Mr. Caldwell, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Hayllar, instructed by Mr. Francis, for the defendants.

There is a man named Grammer in the Massachusetts Legislature, but the evidence of his presence in the debates is slight.

What does the Sacramento Union mean when it suggests, that the Legislature should do something to relieve the overcrowded mining counties?

THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH'S VISIT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR,—As your correspondent "A. Y. Z." is so well acquainted with the doings of the City Hall Committee, and the preparations for the Duke's visit, I think he would have put pen, ink, and paper, to far better use, had he informed us of the nature of those preparations, instead of setting himself up as a Censor, and, without the slightest reason, pronouncing your other correspondent—"a very ill informed and vulgar person."

Common courtesy demands that the public (who pay for all these amusements) should now receive some information regarding the programme to be adopted, but if "A. Y. Z." is one of the Committee, I fear me much that he ignores courtesy altogether.

Pray ask him, Sir, to couch his letters in politer terms, to wander less over his subject, and to remember, that

MANNERS MAKE THE MAN.

Hongkong, 23rd August, 1869.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR,—The acting and singing of those German gentlemen, who, in April last, invited a theatre full of guests to an evening's intellectual enjoyment, of a kind unfortunately rare here, so genuinely achieved success, and the expressions of satisfaction, of cordial praise, from their audience were so unanimous and sincere, that "A. Y. Z." in your issue of Monday, in stating that it is much to be desired that talent of so high an order will not be left unused at the time of the Duke of Edinburgh's visit, hardly said enough.

It is not alone much to be desired, but it is very generally desired, and for two very good reasons: that the welcome to be Duke may be increased by the refinement and good taste displayed in it; and, secondly, that the community may enjoy the greatest amount of pleasure from the visit.

The German actors may see in those two reasons fair grounds for the hope that they will give another Theatrical Representation, and I urge these reasons the more, because I have learned that the majority of those gentlemen, who acted in April last, refuse to act again.

Yours truly,
S.

Hongkong, 24th August, 1869.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR,—Neither the New Zealander after Macaulay, nor any other expectant, need feel anxious about the preparations for the ceremonial observances with which the Duke of Edinburgh will be received.

It has been with much surprise, and, indeed, with no small grief, that this solicitude and anxiety upon the part of your correspondents has been observed. If at once a very great want of that particular kind of experience which is necessary before a person can be truthfully styled a man of the world. Anyone who has travelled, and been observant of human nature in general, and anyone whose sojourn in a Crown Colony has been at all prolonged, would know that a visit such as the one we are expecting, is the most supremely satisfactory affair to Crown servants that their minds can conceive; it is a foretasting for a few moments of that state which they imagine as a terrestial Utopia. The men who are so fond of talking about their official dignity, would be guilty of a heinous crime to them ones and to themselves, were they to permit such an opportunity to pass without giving their whole time and inventive powers how to cover themselves with eclat.

Loyalty, patriotism, the genuine genial feelings of every true Son of Albion, would lead each to regard the Military Constabulary as a privilege offered to him of helping to keep up the grand old club, called Great Britain, to which each hopes to return, and to find it in all its vigour, political, mercantile, social, and religious. But the loyalty, the patriotism, must be deeply grateful; and if the others only knew it, they are the fools, who reveal them in all their deformity. Strip them of their offices; rob them of their imagined share of that divinity which doth hedge around a king; make them cyphers, turn them out on the world without patrons, to whom to lend and smile,—is it to be supposed that they would see that official dignity, they once imagined theirs, falling in graceful folds on the lay figures of their successors?

Diana was only grant unto the Ephesians,—because, she was their Diana.

At present, a little jealousy is all that keeps the men apart: whose happy destiny it is at present to wear that dignity, which they so seriously imagine accrues to the public servant: but the time would come when it would be expedient to abolish the export duties which were alike wrong in principle and injurious to both countries. He concluded by stating that he believed that the Government of India was in safe hands both in India and at home. The Bank of India Loan Bill has been printed; it empowers the Indian Council to raise in England eight million pounds, four of which are to be devoted to Railway construction.

A Company with a capital of £50,000 has commenced mining operations, and have been so successful that another company is contemplated. Fighting still continues in New Zealand. "Te Kooti" at the head of a large body of Maories, threatens the Wanganui district. "Toto Kowara" has for some time harassed the settlements in North Island. Colonel Whitemore is in pursuit, and will it is hoped soon give a good account of him. The rebel chief Tauroa has been captured by Major Noakes. CYCLONES.

(Bell Mail Gazette.)

The frequent recurrence of cyclones in Bengal is a phenomenon which deserves scientific inquiry. It may be said that science can do nothing to avert these fearful storms, and that's true; but it can do something to enable the inhabitants of threatened districts to guard against them. The use of the telegraph, for instance, enables people to prepare for a cyclone as soon as the direction in which it is travelling is ascertained. In a recent visitation of the kind, the inhabitants of Dacca were warned of the approach of the cyclone hours before it reached them. In former times cyclones were so common in Lower Bengal that M. Ramsay, of Jessore, states that the Sunderbunds were converted by them from populous prosperities into the dreary wastes they still remain. The chief destructive agency has been the storm wave, rising sometimes to the height of forty feet, and sweeping every living thing off the face of the country. In the cyclone of 1864 (the worst recorded in this century) the storm wave drowned 5,512 persons out of a population of a 6,000 on the island of Sangor alone. The recent storms seem to have been less serious, but the Indian Government must have seen the necessity of adopting some additional measures for the security of the shipping and the villages and towns lying along the banks of the Hoogly. We are glad to learn that they are now engaged in discussing the propriety of embanking the Hooghly up to Calcutta, as it has long been embanked near the mouth of the river. Some such step as this is essential, if Calcutta is to retain its old commercial importance. The "alternative harbour" applied by Port Canning appears to have been relinquished, and even that was not absolutely secure against cyclones and storm waves.

HORRIBLE TREATMENT OF A WOMAN.

Michael Hugert, 30, a dock labourer, was charged with having assaulted Sarah Dean. The prosecutrix, with a fearfully bruised, bloody and disfigured face, and her hand carried in a sling, deposed that for nearly two years past she had been living with the prisoner as his wife; for the greater part of that time he had not done any work, but she had been compelled to support him, in return for which he only abused and beat her. On the day of the assault he asked her for some meat for dinner, but she not having any to give him, he threatened to pay her. Fearful that he would carry out his threat, she went and hid under a bedstead. He soon found her, and, seizing her by the hair, dragged her down a flight of stairs and kicked her with his heavy boots about the body. One kick met her hand, and she was compelled to go to the hospital, were she was informed that one of her fingers was broken. When she returned to the house she was afraid of further violence, and again hid herself, but he found her, and although she begged him not to beat her any more, he seized her by the hair, dragged her from the room, down two flights of stairs, kicked her in the eye, in the mouth, and on the cheek, causing fearful injuries, besides cutting her head open. She was eventually rescued by some persons in the house, and a constable being sent for, she gave prisoner into custody. Before the police court the sense of shame which seems to hold the prisoner, and scratched his face and severely ill-treated him, so that he was glad to hide himself.—Mr. Newton sentenced him to six months' imprisonment with hard labour, and at the expiration of that time he would have to find one surety for his good behaviour for a further period of six months, in default of which he would remain in gaol.—News of the World.

COMMUNICATION BETWEEN INDIA AND CHINA.

(London and China Herald, July 8th.)

A parliamentary return issued this morning contains copies of all the official correspondence which has taken place relative to the treaty concluded in 1867 with the Court of Ava, not hitherto laid before Parliament, and of the correspondence relating to Captain Sladen's Bhamo expedition, and to the exploration of the proposed railway route from Rangoon to Hyan Kung or Western China. On the latter project it appears the Indian Government on the 3rd of October, 1868, reported unfavourably, on the ground that it would involve the expenditure of money, which they can ill spare; and that it was doubtful whether they could ensure the safety of the lives of any officers who might be employed in survey or construction of the line. The Duke of Argyll, however, on the 29th of April last, informs the Governor-General that her Majesty's Government are desirous of promoting any measure which may have the ultimate effect of facilitating intercourse between India and China; and will be glad, therefore, if the proposed survey can be carried into effect, provided that the necessary operations can be undertaken without entailing upon the Indian Government any embarrassment or inconvenience, and will not involve any undue expenditure of the public money. On this latter point his Grace asks for some estimate of the probable expense.

SIR H. KEPPEL AND RECENT CHINESE DIFFICULTIES.

The Japan Herald in the course of an article sums up as follows the action of Sir H. Keppel in reference to the recent troubles in Formosa and at Swatow:—

It would appear that Sir Henry Keppel seeing the gravity of the position in Formosa determined to proceed either himself, but, before he could arrive on the spot, the Chinese Commissioner Teching, who had been despatched by the Imperial Government to enquire into our claims, declared that the murder and pillage which had taken place were of so mature importance that he had returned to the mainland! Mr. Consul Gibson then sent a pressing requisition to Lieut. Gurdon, urging him to occupy the fort of Zelandia, as a material guarantee, adding, we are told, that the safety of British life and property rested on his action. Everyone is familiar with the gallantry of Lieut. Gurdon's exploits, which the Home Government have

ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY, WITH THE
PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

AN ANGLO-CHINESE DICTIONARY, by the Rev. W. LOBSCHEID, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

FOR scope and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming examples for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accent being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, rendering a closeness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications.

The scope of the work is so great, and its utilitarian purposes so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to those themselves in explains subjects fully, with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally.

It comprises upwards of two thousand large quarto pages.

Price in London, £7 4s.; in Hongkong, $30.

Female Education.

To sum up, then, our objections to the advanced theory of female education, we are still bigots to the old principle that "woman is not undeveloped man, but diverse;" and we hold that were it not so, much else besides "sweet Lucy" would be "shan." Accordingly, we would have education adapted to develop the distinctive characteristics of the sex as well as the general characteristics of humanity. Again, we maintain that there has been much exaggeration in the facts alleged by the reformers. There are, no doubt, instances of unhappy families, and of misunderstandings in families otherwise happy: but we believe that these misunderstandings arise more often from difference of age than from difference of sex; while it is not unfrequently the mother's or the sister's power of sympathy, even without full understanding, which leads the estrangement between the son and the father. So, too, when we hear of the deficiencies in female education, we must remember that a not inconsiderable number of this class already educated as highly as any man. We may mention the names of a Mrs. Somerville, a George Eliot, a Miss Martineau, as having given evidence of this to the world; but he is an unfortunate man who cannot number among his acquaintances ladies who, if not equal to the above in natural power, have yet improved their abilities by cultivation as much (if not in the same way) as any of his male friends. We must further remember that those who complain most of these deficiencies are equally severe upon the gross ignorance, the heedlessness and indifference to knowledge, which are found in men who have passed through the best of our schools and colleges. Contrast, for a moment, the case of such a youth, who cares for nothing but cricket and boating, with the situation which his sister may have received in many a home where the father or mother is the teacher, and the eager enthusiasm of the learner is unmixed with coarser motives of competition, whole the lessons are backed up by the intelligent conversation of the guests or of the elder members of the family. What wonder is it that while the brother looks upon literature and science only as a mine for "dodges" in "exams," the sister can hear her part in any rational conversation, and takes an interest in all that is going on in the world around her.—"The City of the Women," in the Contemporary Review.

A Ball at Jamaica.

Returning to Port Royal, I found the following invitation for "de captain and de bobbies," as a sort of farewell offering:—"New-street, Port Royal. Miss Josephine Johnson presents her compliments to the Captain of the Georgeana, and hopes to have the pleasure of his company at a "dignity" on Monday evening, at 8.30." To understand the full import of this note, I must add a few words about the society of Port Royal. There are officers in blue coats whose home is on the water, and officers in red coats who live in the barracks, and an amphibious species of officers who live in the dockyard and hospital; these, with a black coat or two, make up the male portion of Port Royal society. As regards the other sex, suffice to say, white lady is a rara-avis indeed; so that the petticoats are owned, for the most part, by parties engaged in the business of getting up fine linen, the tints of whose complexions are varied indeed.

"Some are yallar,
Some are blacker,
Some the colour of a chaw of tobbecker."

Miss Josephine Johnson has raised herself by her talents to the proud position of head of the washerwomen—fraternity I was going to say—sisterhood I mean. She is a coloured woman, by no means ill-looking, but has a formidable rival in one very much blacker than herself, who goes by the nickname of "the Commodore's mother-in-law," and who enlivened the getting-up of my linen with rather an overbearing air—as I thought, in consequence of this shared relationship. I am bound, however, to confess that I was faithful to the fair Josephine and, hence, no doubt, the present invitation. Well, after dinner, a number of us, "gotten up," as a Yankee would say, in the handiwork of our hostess—lily-white trousers, waistcoats, and jackets, dazzling white from head to foot—wended our way to the "Dignity," where all the world had assembled for the occasion, and a goodly company was already hard at work, dancing with a vigour more suitable to the temperature of the North Pole than that of a condition of perfect roasting, our present state at Port Royal. The music was really good,—brought over, as our hostess informed us, regardless of expense from Kingston; and as for the supper arrangements, they were unique, yet simple in the extreme, and therefore worthy of imitation. Josephine had invited competition amongst the itinerant street-venders of sweets, cakes, fruits, and drinks; and those commercial intruders walked round the room, offering their property for sale, and vigorously exercising payment in the first place. Before we entered, Miss Josephine stated, in a wheedling tone, that her "Dignity" would surpass anything of the sort ever before attempted at Port Royal, and that it was open to the "brave captain and officers" to contribute a few "bits" towards defraying the expenses, which would be enormous. The captain and officers did contribute a good many bits, being quite unable to withstand the lady's entreaties. Entering a large and neatly-decorated room, duly announced and ushered in with great pride by Miss Josephine, who peremptorily stopped her guests in the middle of a dance to introduce her distinguished friends, we found a goodly bevy of woman,—I beg your pardon, fair damsels, ladies I mean,—dressed in the very extreme of fashion, whose outlines of most amazing dimensions, while each and every one seemed much impressed with the situation, and brimful of self-complacency; but it requires the pen of a Dickens to do full justice to the scene. The heat was stifling; and the aroma—well, it certainly had not the fragrance of the desert air, loaded as it was with bouquet d'Afrique. I thought seriously of retreating; however, one retreat in a day is disgrace enough; so there was no help for it, but to see if our sisters of Port Royal were better conducted than our brothers of Kingston. The native atmosphere was wafted about in whiffs sufficiently strong to do away with any chance of fainting. Nevertheless I found myself dancing. To cause about in this, with Miss Josephine sailed up to me, and, by dint of coaxing and entreaty, persuaded me to accompany her across the room to a bright mulatto from Hayti, to whom I was formally introduced in the most approved fashion, and whom I led out for a waltz with as much decorum as I could command. She really danced well, and seemed to enjoy herself immensely, especially when I stopped a perspiring negro per tray and invited her to partake of whatever she liked. However, the incumbe Josephine came up and told my partner to sit down like a lady, and give some one else a chance of the captain. Piqued by Miss Josephine's rebuke, I had to do as she bade me, and ask another lady to dance—this time a creole of Jamaica, a country woman of mine, as Josephine proudly remarked. The young lady, however, did not respond to my invitation with the alacrity of the Yankee, who jumped up like lightning, and guessed "she just would, as she had not and not till she'd nigh tuk root." This lady replied with great dignity that she had not made up her mind. I confess myself considerably startled at this apparition of a haughty washerwoman; but the lady mistaking my astonishment for admiration of her taper waist and join the giddy throng. Some feeling of resentment, however, seemed to linger in her mind; for resting a while, and returning to make some polite remark, I received snubbing number two, in the following words: "I come here to dance, Sar; I no come to talk." This was enough for me; and with a practical knowledge of a real live Jamaica "dignity," I sallied out into the open air, and wended my way on board, fully convinced that I should be proof against seasickness for some time to come, and that, however easy it might be to turn my heart, it would be impossible to turn my stomach.—*Dottings on the Roadside, in Panama, Nicaragua, and Mosquito.
